Our Honoree

Bradford Perkins

Bradford Perkins is the Chairman and CEO of Perkins Eastman. Perkins Eastman is the largest New York based architectural, interior design and planning firm throughout the United States and in 25 countries overseas. The firm is widely acknowledged as an international leader in the design of facilities for the aging, and has been involved with Gurwin since 1998.

Brad has authored seven text books and more than 100 articles on senior living and other topics. He is on the faculty of Cornell University's College of Architecture, Art and Planning, and lectures at many other colleges and universities. Brad is also a former Director of the New York Chapter of the AIA, and has served as President of the New York State Association of Consulting Planners.

He serves on many boards and committees including UJA-Federation of New York, Westchester Reform Temple, Cornell University, and recently served as Chairman of Helen Keller International. He has a BA from Cornell University, an MBA from Stanford University, and a BArch from Cornell and CCNY.

Brad Perkins and his wife Phyllis reside in Scarsdale and are the proud parents of three daughters and grandparents of seven.

We are pleased to recognize Brad Perkins at our 25th Anniversary Gurwin Classic.

G This year, Gurwin celebrates its 25th anniversary, having grown to truly epitomize the term "comprehensive care." Our nursing and rehabilitation center provides skilled nursing care, short-term rehabilitation, respiratory care, medical/post surgical subacute care and hospice care in our 460-bed skilled nursing pavilions, and our 12-station dialysis center is available for both inpatients and outpatients. Medical, nursing and rehabilitative care is provided to more than 130 community members each day in our Adult Day Health program. Our Home Care programs bring the outstanding care for which Gurwin has become known to individuals right in their own homes. And, our 200-apartment Gurwin Jewish ~ Fay J. Lindner Residences provides an assisted living housing option to those in the community seeking elegant independent living with the security of knowing care is available should they need it.

We are dedicated to providing the highest quality care to those we serve every day, and we are grateful to those whose support has helped to make Gurwin a leader in health care.
